Introduction

As you turn the pages of the AYAN-TEE, we are sure you will find many valuable keepsakes and interesting captures that will describe an exciting year at A&T. Our lifelong commitment.

Angela Eaddy, Editor-In-Chief

The task has proved to be enjoyable, yet challenging and activating, for the AYANTEE STAFF. Each member processed and communicated information differentially in layout designs, visual images, and auditory according to their own personally preferred mode, until DEADLIES were due.

Encouraging Student Development Through Diversity

It is little things that test the character. It is the unpretending acts of daily self denial, performed with a cheerful, willing effort.

Dedicated To . . .

Mrs. Virginia D. McKee
Assistant To The Chancellor

Wherever you choose to display her picture or mention her name — In summary, it must be said that in all of her undertakings, every tiny detail points toward PERFECTION. Mrs. Virginia Durham McKee, we dedicate this volume of the AYANTEE Yearbook to you, with an untarnished approbation. We appreciate your commitment in encouraging our development through diversity.

THE STUDENT BODY

Encouraging Student Development . . .

"AGGIE SPIRIT is an integral part of this Institution's heritage and tradition. It is depicted in the lives of both the Institution's Torchbearers as well as the outstanding men and women who left the University their legacy. The heritage and traditions of the University are evident in every facet of University life."

Lee P. Christian
President — SGA

"When one combines this heritage with the quality of students, faculty/staff, and the soundness of our mission related programs, one readily discerns the greatness of the campus."

QUIESTER CRAIG

Sponsored By:

Quiester Craig, the dean of North Carolina A & T State University's School of Business and Economics, has had an impressive string of accomplishments. Under Craig's dynamic leadership, the school doubled its faculty size and significantly enhanced faculty quality during the last 15 years. Stimulated by university and external support, this historically black university in Greensboro, N.C., boasts a business school that rivals the top schools in the country.

Craig's success in developing a high-quality program at A & T was a result of aggressive fund raising, relevant curriculum changes, strict academic standards and a competitive, committed faculty. Graduates of the program now are sought for challenging positions in business and industry, public accounting and government. "Unless our students can be competitive in the marketplace, we can't justify our existence as a school," said Craig.

The recipient of many awards, Craig's greatest reward is not hanging in a frame on his wall. It is the satisfaction of helping aspiring black students acquire the skills they need to succeed in a very competitive business world.

A Great Way

As the year went on, days grew shorter and shorter and nights longer — leaving students wrestling with their thoughts to find something constructive to do, after completing homework assignments. Staying out of trouble and finding something to do was not always easy. Basketball games, Taking ID'S, Dances, and other campus functions were a few possibilities, but what were other possibilities for A&T's students? . . . We can always join the "MARCHING MACHINE OR FRATERNITIES."

A MESSAGE FROM THE DESK OF THE CHANCELLOR

GREETINGS!

I am pleased to welcome you to North Carolina A. & T. State University. You are to be commended for making the decision to attend this very important Conference on Campus Safety. Today, university campuses are faced with some of the same kinds of safety issues which reflect that which is occurring in the greater society.

The Goals of this conference are threefold: (1) to develop an awareness that some violence occurs on a significant number of university campuses; (2) to identify alternative strategies for coping with negative behavior; and (3) to become partners in ensuring that when violence does occur, it will not be tolerated by the University community. It is my hope that you will glean some information which will assist you upon returning to your campus.

Sincerely,

Edward B. Fort
Chancellor

The Fourth National Holiday

Most literature and other media presented the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. as a civil rights leader, a minister, an orator, a pacifist, a philosopher, a writer and a devoted family man. Rarely was/is Dr. King presented as a scholar and an educator. Nevertheless, all of Dr. King's activities and accomplishments, whether at marches, in the pulpit, among friends, or at home, can be classified as educational; because King used his intensive learning and extensive knowledge to inspire and improve, in all of life's situations, the lot of his fellowman. Dr. King studied to gain an understanding and appreciation of life and its meaning while seeking to find scientific methodologies of educating the world to a functional theology of action — education by example.

After studying many religions, he sought and found within them common denominators which he reduced to the philosophy of St. John:

LET US LOVE ONE ANOTHER; FOR LOVE IS OF GOD;
AND EVERYONE THAT LOVETH IS BORN OF GOD.
AND KNOWETH GOD. HE THAT LOVETH NOT KNOWETH
NOT GOD, FOR GOD IS LOVE ... IF WE LOVE ONE ANOTHER, GOD DWELLETH IN US. AND HIS LOVE IS PERFECTED IN US.

Because King was intelligent and articulate, because he possessed integrity and commitment, and because he could voice sound and effective views which were free of hate; he won the respect of this nation as well as the world.

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. PRACTICED WHAT HE PREACHED AND LEFT THE CHALLENGE FUNDAMENTAL TO EDUCATION:

Education is the only medium through which we can work for a sense of individual identity while striving for a unity entertained at a global level.

Student Government Association

PURPOSE OF THE STUDENT GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

The aims of higher education are to aid an individual in realizing his/her potential, and in becoming an effective member of society. The means of this end are independence of thought, active awareness of and participation in the academic achievement. The individual is the center of learning. Therefore, these aims have meaning only insofar as they relate to the individual. Whatever is done in the educational community must be evaluated in terms of the effect on the student and his/her learning process. The Student Government Association, as the representative of the student community, must be committed to these goals of higher education in order to justify its existence.

In our efforts to obtain knowledge from this fine University of ours, we have found that A&T is academically superior to some of the other universities in North Carolina. We have become a powerful and influential university through educating some of our prominent black leaders, past and present. We have obtained our outstanding reputation not only through the deeds of past "Aggies" but through the academic excellence of all Aggies.

Becoming involved with organizations at A&T has taught me to open up to people — to articulate ideas, to realize my dreams. It has become my vehicle to leadership roles, to helping others and to becoming more than a walking social security number. A&T, a small community in this big world has given me hope, a vision, and the realization that if I have the capacity to dream and the motivation to believe, I possess the courage to achieve.

DIVERSITY PROVIDES SOME INTERESTING PROGRAMS AND OPPORTUNITIES FOR, AND ENCOURAGEMENT TO PARTICIPATE IN, WHOLESOME GROUP LIFE IN WHICH STUDENTS FULLY ACCEPT AND IN WHICH THEY DEVELOP REWARDING FRIENDSHIPS. PERSONAL TIES BETWEEN STUDENTS ARE SOMETIMES MORE IMPORTANT IN THEIR LIFE OR THEIR SPECIAL INTEREST GROUP THAN THE ACTIVITIES IN WHICH THEY ENGAGE.

Student Life

The cliché has always been "All work and no Play makes Jack a dull boy," however, this had a contrary meaning for many A & T students. Bluford Library had many students working on papers, projects or just gaining more knowledge.

The library had a new world inside it just waiting to be discovered by A & T's students. Many students took advantage of the opportunity. By seeing this important aspect of their college education they have started their own cliché: "More study less play means more opportunity and money for Jack in the long-run."

BOOKS VS. PARTY!

How many times have you sat in the library and studied for a test when you could have gone to the jam in Moore Gymnasium? I know everyone has been faced with this situation. It can be a tough decision sometimes but just remember what your purpose is for being here. The books now and party later, after you've been paid in full!

Karen Waters

"Institutions of higher education both reflect and help to shape the cultures and policies of their supporting societies. They educate the men and women who are to become most influential in determining public opinion and national policy respecting international matters."

KNOWLEDGE AND EDUCATION

MORE STUDY — LESS PLAY

Today's generation sometimes has a cloudy vision of the future, and doesn't use good judgment. The people of this new generation should start to see that life is a one time thing, and we need to live it to the fullest. Living life to its fullest doesn't mean hanging out all the time, or doing things because, but for a cause. Do things that will help someone else, but don't forget to help yourself. This will help in making a strong establishment, not just any establishment. To view the future one must have insight and not be so blind to what is happening around and to you. Viewing the future without insight is like running into the dark, you didn't know what was up ahead to trip you up, and make you fall. To all Aggies who may read these lines, make an establishment and open up your eyes.

*As my eyelids close in death;
And my soul is called to rest.
I feel no pain, I'm much relieved.
I'm alright now; loved ones believe.
My soul is happy; my spirit is free.
I'm only gone to be with thee!
Don't be sad, don't weep for me.
think happy thoughts of all we had;
And in your hearts I'll always be.
So, no good-byes and no so-longs.
I'm only resting in my heavenly home.*

“The Role Of The Afro-American Churches In Economic, Political, And Social Developments At Home And Abroad”

Rev. Jesse Jackson persuaded the Syrian government to free Navy Lt. Robert O. Goodman Jr. in December, 1983.

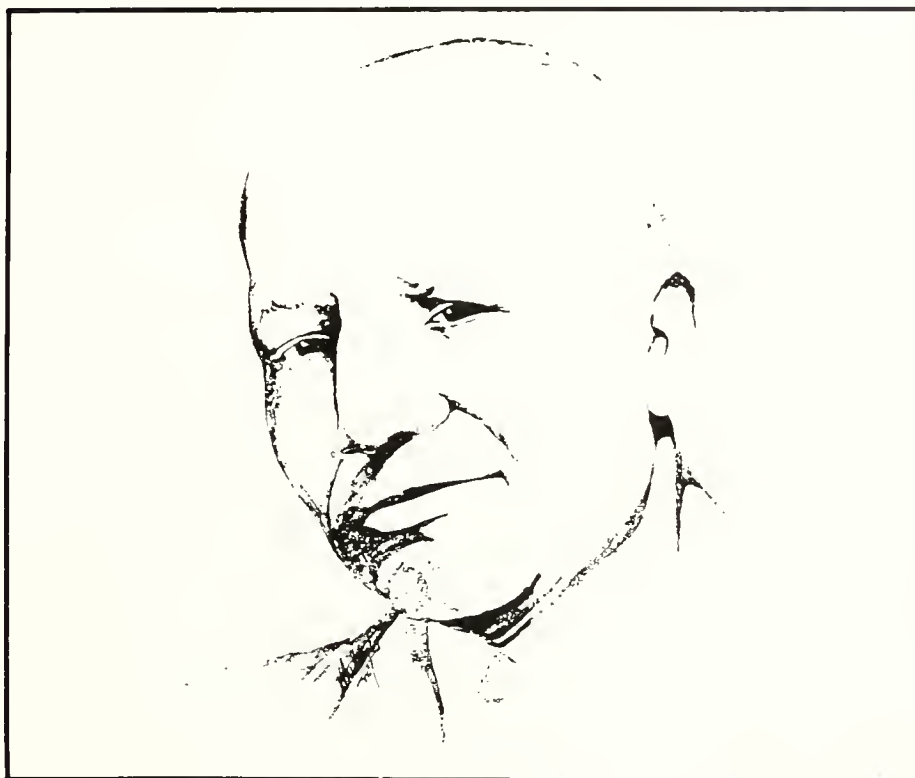

Ron McNair
Astronaut
1950-1986

Martin Luther King, Jr. was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, December 10, 1964 in Oslo, Norway.

The school, the family, the church, and the government are the traditional institutions that influence and mold people, and especially the young. When one institution inadequately provides for an aspect of a child's upbringing, then the other institutions must compensate by providing for adequate educational support. In the school's teaching of Afro-American History, an effort is being made to rectify past inequities by society to suppress, alter, and ignore the history, culture and achievements of Afro-Americans. When students gain knowledge of their heritage, they attain a greater sense of self-value and pride which boosts their fragile self-esteem. This deep sense of self-worth contributes to the making of a strong person, strong families, and a strong nation. — Annette Ortega

AIR FORCE ROTC

The Air Force Officer Training Corps (ROTC) is an educational program designed to provide you, as a college student, the opportunity to become an Air Force commissioned officer while completing requirements for an undergraduate or graduate degree. A Four-or Two-Year Program is available.

The Air Force ROTC educational Program provides preprofessional preparation for future Air Force officers. It is designed to develop men and women who can apply their education to their initial active duty assignments as Air Force commissioned officers. To receive a commission, an Air Force ROTC cadet must complete all college degree requirements, as well as complete certain Air Force ROTC courses. Air Force ROTC courses normally are taken for academic credit as a part of a student's electives. The amount of credit given toward a degree for Air Force ROTC academic work varies with different colleges and universities. The two major phases of the curriculum are the General Military Course and the Professional Officer Course.

During the summer before your senior year, you may volunteer to participate in this program. This program is designed to provide career orientation and leadership opportunities. You will receive the opportunity to observe and work in a career field of your choice on an active Air Force base for two to three weeks to learn the challenges of being a junior officer. Many cadets volunteer for airborne training, while others participate in leadership projects throughout the country. Transportation is provided to and from all training. With the exception of airborne training, you will receive pay and travel allowance while participating in this program. Applications are accepted the fall of your Junior year.

College Scholarships

Mr. Robert A. Williams

Air Force ROTC officers up to four-year scholarships to men and women students majoring in selected scientific and technical areas such as engineering, mathematics, meteorology, and computer science. Competitive scholarships also are available to students in selected career areas based on the needs of the Air Force. Additionally, there are two- and three-year scholarships for qualified men and women in selected medical degree programs. Nursing applicants may compete for two-year scholarships. Each scholarship pays full tuition, laboratory fees, incidental expenses and reimbursement for textbooks plus a monthly non-taxable $100 allowance during the school year. Applications for two- and three-year scholarships are made through the professor of Aerospace studies during the freshman or sophomore year. Competitive scholarships are available at the beginning of each school term for students enrolled in Air Force ROTC but do not have a scholarship. Application forms are furnished by the professor of Aerospace Studies in the Air Force ROTC detachment. Selection for two- and three-year scholarships will be based in part on:

- Scores achieved on the Air Force Officer Qualifying Test.
- Overall grade-point average.
- The rating from an interview board.

The Air Force ROTC four-year program has two phases: the General Military Course and the Professional Officer Course. Freshmen enroll in the four-year program as they would for any other class. There is no obligation. The first phase of the four-year program is the General Military Course. This is taught at freshman and sophomore level. Courses cover management principles, national defense, military history, and leadership. Cadets who show the potential to become an Air Force officer and who complete the physical and scholastic requirements of the General Military Course are eligible for the second phase, the Professional Officer Course.

Acceptance into the Professional Officer Course is competitive. It helps if you are majoring in selected scientific and technical areas such as mathematics, meteorology, engineering, and computer science. The Professional Officer Course is usually taken during the final two years of college. It includes instruction in organization and management, professionalism and additional leadership development.

During the summer between the sophomore and junior years, Professional Officer Course cadets attend a six-week training session on an Air Force Base.

Applications for the Professional Officer Course are taken early in the sophomore year.

Bill Hayes is a familiar face in athletics in North Carolina. Only because of his previous employer. Was it a mild surprise when North Carolina A&T announced the selection of the 22-year veteran as player and coach to pace its football fortune?

In naming Hayes, A&T Chancellor, Dr. Edward B. Fort, said: "After a comprehensive national search, we are convinced that in Mr. Hayes we have a superb leader for the A&T football program."

"We have selected a coach with a proven record," athletic director Orby Moss said. "He also demonstrated his ability to recruit in North Carolina and surrounding areas."

We feel confident coach Hayes will give the kind of leadership our program deserves. Success has followed Hayes throughout his athletic career.

Aggie Football, 1988

After All That Was Said And Done, Aggie Spirit And Pride Surfaced

Coming off its first ever outright Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference title and tying a record for most wins in a season, North Carolina A&T found the going tough in 1987 and plummeted to a disappointing 3-8 record.

The coach made a stunning exit and the Aggies moved swiftly to replace him with Bill Hayes, a coach with exceptional success at Winston-Salem State.

Hayes' Ram team won six divisional titles and a CIAA championship in 12 years. When Hayes packed his bags to make the 25-mile journey to

A&T, there was the hope that he brought along the success his WSSU teams enjoyed over the years.

But that hope was met with the reality that only a handful of proven veterans return, that Hayes has a short time in which to install a high-risk offense that Hayes himself will be swimming the stormy waters of the MEAC for the first time.

Those are imposing challenges, but to hear Hayes tell it, he thrives on challenges, the major reason the A&T position seemed so appealing.

"I accepted the A&T coaching position for the challenge,"

Hayes said on the day he was introduced as Mo Forte's successor. "I think there's something challenging about coaching in Division 1-AA and at a fine Institution like A&T.

I was particularly impressed by his proven record as a head football coach his extensive experience in high level student recruitment, based on positive interface with the high schools of the state, and his history and commitment to the academic monitoring and counseling of student athletes. I was further impressed by his proven ability to operate a first class program within the confines of the university-determined budget, his proven ability to work co-operatively with a nationally based alumni association and other support groups, and by the national esteem that he gained from coaching colleagues and former players."

This wasn't the first time applying for the position. I just can't wait to get the season under way."

When the season gets under way, Hayes obviously would have made several crucial decisions. One involves the choice of a quarterback to run his Wing-T offense. Alan Hooker is no longer available.

Hooker, who signed as a free agent with the national Football League's Dallas Cowboys, set the standard for an A&T quarterback while performing at the position for the last three and a half seasons. Hooker owns virtually all A&T passing records and it is the all-time leading passer in MEAC history.

Chicago, Illinois (A&T vs. DePaul in first round)

* MEAC Game

North Carolina A&T will be in the unfamiliar role of not being in the favored role to capture the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Title this season.

No one knows that better than veteran Coach Don Corbett, whose teams have won seven consecutive titles and participated in the same number of NCAA tournaments.

Coach Don Corbett, Excited!

Excited? Yes! He Will Get The Job Done With Ease . . . No Problem!

"We have our work cut out for us," Corbett said. "Experience will be in short supply because you can't lose four quality players like we did and not suffer."

Corbett was referring to the graduation loss of forward and MEAC Player of the Year Claude Williams, guard Thomas Griffis, center Kenny Cox and valuable reserve center Lee Robinson.

Those four players were the primary reason the Aggies posted the first perfect mark in MEAC history en route to a 26-3 overall record last season, including a setback to Syracuse in the first round of the NCAA tournament. A&T went 16-0 in the conference and had only close call in all league skirmishes.

With the loss of 6-8 Williams, 6-9 Cox, and 6-8 Robinson, the Aggies were left without any appreciable experience on the frontline, prompting Corbett to remark: "Their loss is going to make my job that more difficult and will put a lot of pressure on the players coming in as replacements."

Redshirt freshman Kevin Mumford is a leading candidate to fill a void on the frontline. At 6'08", Mumford must come in and develop consistency in a hurry. Another candidate is 6-5 sophomore Travis McRae, who got an extended look in several games last season.

If Mumford and McRae live up to expectations, the Aggies still would lack a legitimate big man in the pivot. Corbett fell short of that goal in his recruiting effort, landing four frontcourtters only 6-8 in height.

But Corbett's success over the years has defied belief. Somehow he manages to make an adjustment to the players available and succeed with them in the lineup. If he opts in favor of a three-guard offense, he's well-equipped to do so. WE ARE PULLING FOR YOU COACH CORBETT! WE ARE STILL #1 . . .

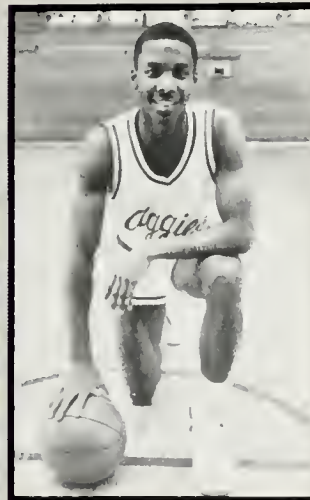

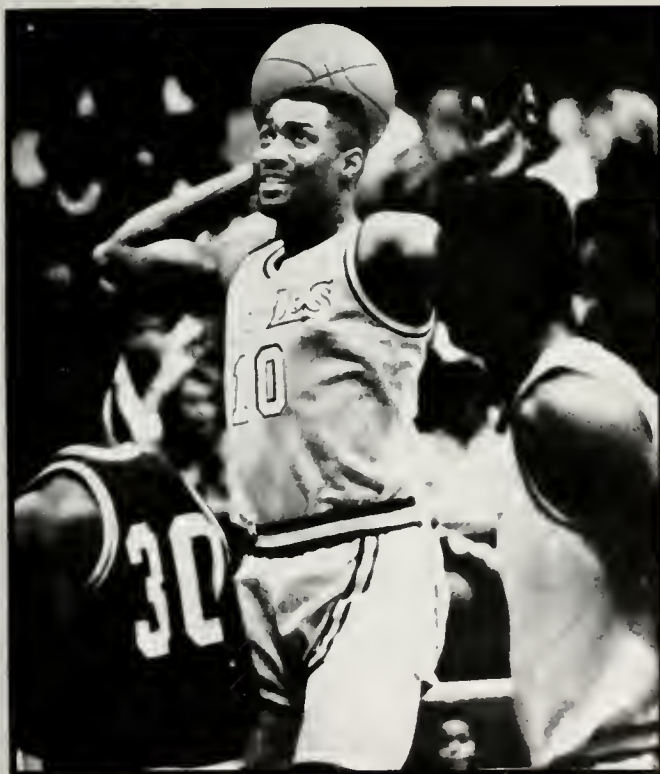

BASKETBALL IS TRULY THE "ALL-AMERICAN SPORT." HERE, AT A&T, WE HOLD THE LONGEST HOME GAME WINNING STREAK AND THE MOST CONSECUTIVE WINS IN THE MEAC CONFERENCE.

CORBETT SPORTS CENTER, "HOME OF THE AGGIE BASKETBALL TEAM," IS WELL EQUIPPED WITH EVERYTHING ANY YOUNG BASKETBALL PLAYER WILL NEED IN ORDER TO WIN!

CORBETT IS A PARADOX. HE IS LIKE A TOWERING INFERNO, A BURNING DESIRE TO EXCEL AND BE THE BEST. BUT HE IS A COACH OF COMPASSION, QUICK TO LAUGH AND SLOW TO ANGER.

VERY FEW, IF ANY, COACHES CAN MATCH HIS SUCCESS DURING THE PAST EIGHT SEASONS; SEVEN STRAIGHT CONFERENCE TITLES, SIX SEASONS WITH 20 OR MORE VICTORIES, EIGHT APPEARANCES IN POST-SEASON TOURNAMENTS, INCLUDING THE NCAA AND NIT.

We've Made A Massive Commitment
Bringing The Best To Aggeland
A Lasting Impression!

It came as no surprise last season when Tim Abney guided the Aggies to the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference regular season title in only his second year as coach of the North Carolina A&T Aggies.

Abney is no newscomer in the coaching ranks. He soon will enter his second decade as a coach.

Most of the first decade has been spent as an assistant coach under Abney's mentor, Don Corbett, the ultra-successful A&T men's basketball coach.

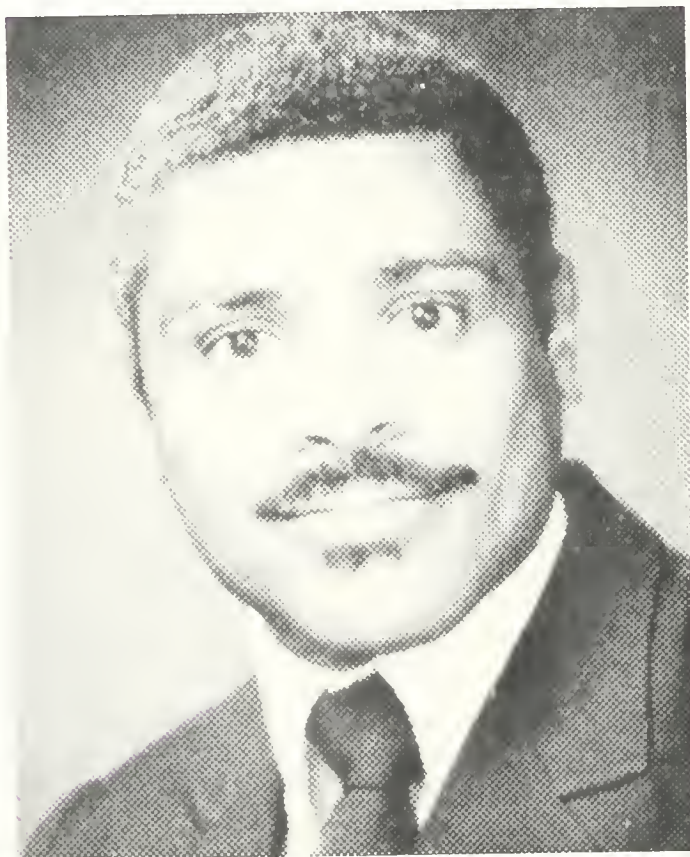

Abney played a key role in helping the men's team enjoy outstanding success in the '80's. "Not only is Tim an excellent basketball mind," stated Corbett, "but he's also a highly respected teacher."

Coach Abney will look toward this season with hopes of leading the Aggies to the top prize: the MEAC TOURNAMENT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Abney will have a solid nucleus in his goal of capturing the MEAC title. He has three starters from last season's 22-7 squad, a record which included a 13-2 mark in MEAC play. Abney is a native of Kansas City, Mo., and was a standout high school player. He earned a grant-in-aid to play collegiately under Corbett at Lincoln University of Jefferson City, Mo. He earned ALL-CONFERENCE and ALL-REGION honors while attending Lincoln.

Kim Broadnax, Senior, 6-0 from Eden, N.C. has developed into a steady, consistent performer coming off the bench. She was among the team leaders in field goal accuracy with 47 percent and in free throw accuracy with 60 percent.

She has the potential to make a strong impact on the team's chances this season as well as breaking into the starting lineup.

Coach Abney says, Kim, was a pleasant surprise last year. She will be called upon to play a different role with the team this season.

1988-89 NORTH CAROLINA A&T
KNEELING (L R): Shaw, Tinsley, Mendenhall, Hamilton, Kim, Givens, Broadnax, Patten, Ferguson, Kim Broadnax, Eileen Patten

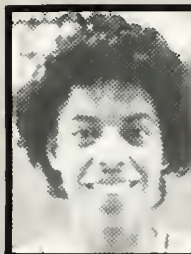

Mr. Orby Moss says, that "A good Athletic program can project a positive image for graduates of the University." It can be something for them to be proud of."

A Winning Combination

Kim Wells, Senior, 5-9 from Detroit, Michigan, again slated for playing a wing position because of her versatility. Plays with a lot of hustle and desire.

Paulette Dennis, Senior, 5-7 from Aberdeen, Maryland, according to Coach Abney, "has a lot of natural ability." She earned a starting role midway through last season.

Athletic Director, Orby Moss, believes an athletic program should have a two-fold purpose. First, it should provide quality athletics a chance to get a quality education.

It should also provide them the opportunity and the environment to be the best they can be in their chosen sport. Moss believes the win-loss record will take care of itself.

Class Queens Elected By The Student Body 1988-89

ALTHOUGH MISS A&T SELECTS HER ATTENDANTS, THE CLASS QUEENS ARE VERY MUCH A PART OF THE CORONATION AND HOMECOMING FESTIVITIES. IT IS AN HONOR TO REPRESENT THE UNIVERSITY DURING HOMECOMING. THESE LADIES WERE SELECTED BY THEIR RESPECTIVE ORGANIZATIONS AND CLASSES TO FULFILL THIS ULTIMATE TASK.

During Homecoming and throughout the year, the queens delight, enthrall, and captivate the student body with their many involvements. They offer a refreshing opportunity for other peers to get involved and become interested in seeking the same challenge.

Members of the ROTC Program have become a diverse group with high set goals. They are involved in numerous activities on campus throughout the year. This is one of the most disciplined groups to emerge from NC A & T SU.

A & T has a unique way of attracting the most interesting audiences. Come rain or shine, they always manage to take time out to stop ... look ... and listen.

“Homecoming is a wonderful time of the year! It is a time of sharing, reminiscing about the “good old days,” and reliving times past. No other occasion quite expresses the true “AGGIE PRIDE & SPIRIT,” felt at this home gathering of the Aggie Family.”

“THE RARE ESSENCE OF BEAUTY” LIES NOT IN ONE’S PHYSICAL ATTRIBUTES ALONE, BUT IN ONE’S ABILITY TO ACKNOWLEDGE THE BEAUTY THAT RADIATES FROM WITHIN.
